For Melanie Beresford, nothing ever remains the same. Here one day and gone the next, we live in a world of constant flux - where loss and rebirth lay close at hand. In our search for security we often ignore the possibility of loss and to our own disadvantage. Like flames, relationships quickly appear and disappear, homes are built and destroyed. Her close affinity with materiality and its ability to engage beyond a primary aesthetic level, has led her to explore a range of media throughout her practice. Influenced by her own life experiences, her work has evolved as she navigates humanity's vulnerabilities. Find out more

"264 Enmore Rd 4" Sculpture by Melanie Beresford - Reviewed by N.LOPEZ

Melanie's breadth and variety of practice and the choices she makes to tell her stories do not cease to amaze me. Melanie likes to reminisce about her childhood memories, her family home and the changes at its heart, her own story growing up, coming of age and evolving in the world too. She uses symbolic materials such as hair, wood, fire as a representation of the passing of time; the steps one goes through in life and the choices we face.

With the "264 Enmore Rd" Series, Melanie recreates the fragile structure of her childhood home and memories with wire and wool.
